

Vesper Propers, January 25, 2009
Thirty-seventh Sunday after Pentecost
Sunday of Zacchaeus

Our holy father Gregory the Theologian, archbishop of Constantinople, the friend of St. Basil; bishop of Sebaste, and then of Constantinople, and finally Nazianzus. He defended the divinity of the Word with great ardor, for which reason he is also named "the Theologian." During his time as patriarch of Constantinople, he presided over the Second Ecumenical Council (Constantinople, 381). (389)

O ho - ly fa - ther Gre-go - ry, the grave, which brings o - bliv - i - on, sealed nei-ther your lips nor your voice, for you were the mouth of the pur - est peace and great mer - cy.

Cantor: Let the watchman count on daybreak
(on 4) and Israel on the Lord.

With your voice as a plow, you cultivated the hearts of the faith - ful to make the immortal fruits of the faith grow in them, O hier - arch Greg - o - ry, and to of - fer them to the Lord. By pull - ing out all thorns of her - e - sy by the roots, you gave thoughts their pur - est beau - ty.
Re - ceive our praises as the lyre of God, O ever - watch - ful The - o - lo - gian, shep - herd of shep - herds, who drive a - way the wolves from your flock.
In - tercede ceaselessly be - fore the Word for our souls.

Come, let us praise the divinely elo - quent Greg - o - ry with sa - cred hymns, for he is the eye of grace, the most wise mouth of the Ho - ly Spir - it, the ra - diant bea - con

With fit-ting hymns let us all praise the the-o-lo-gian, the guard-ian of the flock of Christ, the hunt-er of the wolves of e-vil, the most wise up-root-er of base weeds and most won-drous sow-er of right dog-mas, the ex-ceed-ing-ly mighty dis-pel-ler of her-e-tics, who tru-ly in-creased the tal-ents of Christ by his god-ly vig-i-lance, as is good, and il-lu-mined the world with the divine ra-di-ance of his doc-trines.

Cantor: (Tone 8) Glory...
