

Vesper Propers, November 28 2010
Twenty-seventh Sunday after Pentecost

The holy venerable martyr Stephen the Younger at Constantinople, monk and martyr, who, under Constantine Copronymus, was tortured by various punishments for the cult of sacred Images and confirmed the Catholic truth by his shed blood. (767)

Supplement for The Order of Vespers for Sundays after Pentecost, 2006

Lamplighting Psalms in the Tone of the Week (Tone 2, p. 36), stichera 10-5..

Cantor: (Tone 6) Let the watchman count on daybreak, and Israel on the Lord.
(on 4)

Stichera of the venerable martyr Stephen - Tone 6 podoben: Vsju otloživše

Con - se - cra - ted to the Lord from your youth, you were a stran-ger to the flesh, and the cus - toms of the world, O ho - ly fa - - ther, for you were an out - stand - ing monk, a vessel of the Ho-ly Spi - - - rit. From the nar - row cell where your bo - dy lay ill, your spi - rit as - cen - ded to hea - ven to con - tem - plate the in - effable splendor of Christ, our King and our God. For him you waged your resolute combat, O bles-sed Ste - phen, as you pros - tra - ted yourself be - fore the i - con re - sem - bling Him.

Cantor: Because with the Lord there is mercy, and fullness of redemption;
 (on 3) Israel indeed he will redeem from all its iniquity.
All repeat: "Consecrated to the Lord from your youth..."

Cantor: Praise the Lord, all you nations; acclaim him, all you people.
 (on 2)

Fast - ing for for - ty days, like the Mas - ter, in the pri - son where you lay ill, you pre - pared yourself for com - at, O ho - ly Ste - phen, pil - lar of monks and jewel of the mar - tyrs. Then, like wolves, your pitiless ag - res - sors dragged you out like a gentle lamb and slaugh - tered you un - just - ly. They bur - ied you a - mong the cri - mi - nals, O you who waged a reso - lute strug - gle and for - e - ver have the power to in - ter - cede for our souls.

Cantor: Strong is the love of the Lord for us; he is faithful forever.

①

A band of cri-mi-nals made them-selves ac-com-pli-ces of the plots of the un-just em-per-or and cru-el-ly stoned you, O venerable Father, like the first mar-tyr. They crushed your head, O ven-e-ra-ble Ste-phen.
Then they dragged your bo-dy through the streets, and scat-tered your remains without pi-ty or mer-cy for the dead. What cour-age, what pa-tience you had in your heart, that won you an un-fad-ing crown.

Cantor: (Tone 6) Glory...

Doxastikon of the venerable martyr Stephen - Tone 6 samohlasen

Con-se-cra-ted to the Lord from in-fan-cy like the great pro-phet Sam-u-el, O ven-e-ra-ble Ste-phen, you were pleas-ing in his sight as as a monk on the moun - tain. You courageously went down to your strug - gle; and for His i - con, you pa - tient - ly en - dured ex - ile, af - flic - tion, chains and pr - son.

 Dragged about, beaten by whips, stoned, your head crushed, you re - ceived a crown from Christ, our God. In - ter - cede before Him that our souls be saved, and that the faithful who wholeheartedly celebrate your sa - cred mem - o - ry be delivered from trials, pas - sions, and all dis - as - ters in the age to come.

Cantor: (Tone 2) Now and ever...

Aposticha

Sunday aposticha in the Tone of the Week (Tone 2, p. 43), concluding with:

Cantor: (Tone 8) Glory...

Aposticha doxastikon of the venerable martyr Stephen - Tone 8 samohlasen

Hav-ing kept the image of God unsul-ied with-in you, you strug-gled valiantly for the i-con of Christ, with-out fear-ing the threats of Co-pro-ny - mos, the em-peror with the stain - ed name. But you fought him with the sword of the Spi - rit.

With the bold-ness you have be - fore God, save your flock from all her - e - sy,

O bles - sed Ste - - - phen of count-less strug - gles.

Cantor: Now and ever...
